

3D PRINTING POLICY

The Library's 3D printing services are available to Cecil County Public Library cardholders to provide access to new and emerging technology, specifically, 3D printing technology, as well as training and design resources.

For those who would like to use CCPL 3D printing services but do not have a CCPL card, we encourage them to consider getting one.

1. The Library's 3D printers may only be used for lawful purposes. Library users may not create:
  - Content or objects that are prohibited by local, state or federal law.
  - Content or objects that may be construed as having intent to harm.
  - Content or objects that may infringe upon the intellectual property rights of a third party.
  - Content or objects that may be construed as obscene or otherwise inappropriate for the Library environment.
2. By submitting content or objects, the library user agrees to assume all responsibility for, and shall hold the Library harmless in, all matters related to patented, trademarked, or copyrighted materials. Cecil County Public Library is not responsible for any damage, loss, or security of data arising from the use of its computers or network, nor for the functionality or quality of content produced on the 3D printer.
3. The Library reserves the right to refuse any 3D print request.
4. 3D printing services are staff-mediated and are available on a first-come, first-served basis.
5. The library user agrees to follow Library 3D printing guidelines.
6. The Library reserves the right to charge a fee for printing.
7. Library users that submit a print for printing agree to pay for the print. The Library will not charge patrons for prints that print poorly due to machine malfunctions or errors. The Library will not be held accountable for designs that print poorly due to poor design.
8. All other Library policies apply when using the Library's 3D printer or printing services. Those policies are available here.
9. The Library reserves the right to photograph any 3D printed items and use those photographs at our discretion.
